India-Pakistan War Stirs Up Dispute In UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The India-Pakistan conflict in Kashmir today threatened to become a major cold war dispute at the United Nations.

The Soviet Union charged in the Security Council Monday night that the command posts of the U.N. military observer groups in Kashmir to supervise the cease-fire were "being manned mainly by NATO general staff officers."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko directed the accusation at U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and called for the U.N. observers in Kashmir to be withdrawn within the next three months.

At the same time Fedorenko challenged Secretary General Thant's role in the buildup of the U.N. observer force, contending Thant had "departed from provisions in the U.N. Charter." He said the Security Council "is competent to adopt measures on all questions connected with U.N. observers."

While Fedorenko reopened the crucial question of financing the U.N. Kashmir force, he did not elaborate on his accusations that NATO officers were being used in vital positions in Kashmir.

The United Nations has two distinct military observer groups in Kashmir—United Nations Military Observer Group and United Nations India-Pakistan Military Observer Mission (UNIPOM).

The groups are headed by Australian Gen. Robert Nimmo and Canadian Gen. Bruce MacDonald.

Convict Faces Murder Charge

JACKSON (UPI)—A convict at the state prison here was expected to be arraigned on murder charges today arising out of the stabbing of a fellow inmate Sunday.

Arraignment was scheduled for 9:30 this morning in Jackson Municipal Court for Roger Johnson, who allegedly stabbed Frank Clark, 35, as Clark was passing through a lunch line at the prison.

Authorities say the incident happened so quickly that two guards standing nearby did not have a chance to intervene.

Clark died within a few minutes.

Johnson, recently transferred here from the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia because of bad conduct, was taken to the prison's disciplinary block.

"Johnson was already doing a 20 to 40 year term for murder," Louis Utess, assistant to Warden George A. Kropp said. "Maybe this is the way he settles things."

Utess said he doubted the two men even knew each other. "Apparently it was just a difference of opinion," he added.

Court To Rule On Validity Of Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court moved today toward an early decision—perhaps in three weeks—on whether to bypass lower courts and settle the validity of the 1965 Voting Rights Act once and for all.

The Justice Department is seeking a constitutional ruling as soon as possible to enable thousands of newly registered Negroes in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana to cast their ballots in the 1966 elections.

Courts of the three states have granted injunctions keeping the Negroes' names off local voting rolls. This move struck at the heart of the new law, in effect nullifying the efforts of federal examiners who have certified 46,000 Negroes in those states since President Johnson signed the law Aug. 6.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach wants a speedy decision from the high court without taking the long route through lower federal courts, which could delay a final ruling until after many 1966 primaries.

Whether the federal government gets the early ruling it wants depends on whether the Supreme Court agrees it has jurisdiction over the case. Only 14 times in the past has the government sought to originate a case before the high court.

The Constitution provides that suits between a state and the United States may be brought directly to the Supreme Court. But the court could refuse to get involved until appeals reach it from below.

South Carolina first asked the court to assume "original jurisdiction" in the voting rights controversy and sought to file suit against the United States.

Then the Justice Department came in with proposed suits against Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Opposing parties normally have 60 days to reply—in this case until Dec. 20. But the department asked the court to seek answers from the states by Nov. 10, and the court agreed Monday.

Zeeland Gets First Cubans

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A Cuban family of five, the first refugees to reach Western Michigan under the recent open-door policy announced by Castro, arrived here by plane Monday.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Onofre Mayea and their daughters, Maria, 26, Magaly, 25, and Ana, 13, who were among 50 Cubans that made the trip from their native land in a 30-foot boat after Castro recently announced anyone wishing to leave Cuba could do so.

The Mayeas will settle in Zeeland, where they have relatives, Armando Fernandez and his family, who came to Zeeland in January 1964. The Cubans are being resettled under the Christian Reformed Church World Relief Committee. The Zeeland church will find housing and help the Mayea family get settled in Zeeland.

Mayea was a restaurant owner in Cuba.

Highland Park Gets Income Tax Of One Per Cent

DETROIT (UPI)—The suburban Highland Park City Council Monday adopted a city income tax by a 5 to 0 vote making it the sixth community in the state to pass such a levy.

The tax, which will go into effect Jan. 1, 1966, will levy one per cent from residents and a half per cent from nonresidents working in Highland Park.

If at least 10 per cent of those who voted in the last municipal election petition for a referendum, the tax, if approved, would go into effect July 1, 1966.

The cities which now have income taxes include Detroit, Flint, Saginaw and Hamtramck. The Warren City Council passed an income tax ordinance last week. It will go into effect Jan. 1 barring a referendum drive.

Clues Left In $400,000 Cannon Robbery At Brink's

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Police checked for possible fingerprints today on burglary equipment left behind by thieves who blasted into a Brink's office with an anti-tank cannon Monday and fled with $400,000.

Investigators said at least four men were suspected of being involved in what was termed a "well planned, professional job." Officers said only that the tools left behind "may" contain fingerprints.

"They knew what they were after," said Police Investigator Joe Donahue. "It was a well planned job."

Four unused bottles of nitro glycerine, gas marks, acetylene torches and shells were found at the scene. Several mattresses were apparently used to muffle the sound of the firing and protect the burglars from ricocheting shells, police said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was attempting to learn whether the gun used to blast the concrete and steel wall of the Brink's Armored Car Service Co. was one of 20 mm. anti-tank guns stolen from a Railway Express office in Plattsburgh, near the U.S.-Canadian border.

Some of the burglary equipment found at the scene was made in Canada leading authorities to believe the burglars were from Canada. A heavy patrol was set up along the New York-Canadian border.

The Canadian angle was given added credence by the FBI which said burglars earlier this year unsuccessfully attempted to break into a Brink's office in Quebec City by aiming a 20 mm cannon at a vault wall.

Beatnik Students Are Minority, U-M Club Told

The bearded beatnik, draft-card burning students which have given colleges and universities all over the nation "black eyes" with recent anti-Viet Nam demonstrations are the exception—not the rule—on college campuses today, Dr. William Stegath told the Delta County University of Michigan Club Monday.

"The average student is a fine representative for his school," Stegath said. Stegath, a native of Escanaba and now field secretary for the University Alumni Association, stopped in Escanaba Monday en route to Ann Arbor after watching Michigan drop a 14-13 decision to Minnesota in a Big Ten football game Saturday at Minneapolis. He presented a program of current campus slides and discussed Michigan's 150th anniversary celebration coming in 1967.

Not Against Change
"There aren't any beards or sandals in those pictures," Stegath said of between-class shots of the Michigan campus. "The demonstrators are misfits and don't mix well with the general level of students," he said.

"The University isn't against ideas or change," he continued. "We listen through channels, rationally, but we don't want this kind of stuff."

Two Saturdays ago the University of Michigan attracted national publicity when 36 students and faculty members demonstrating against Viet Nam policies were arrested and jailed after a sit-in at the Ann Arbor selective service office.

The students are currently appealing 10-day jail terms and $65 fines levied by an Ann Arbor Municipal Judge. Stegath said that of a total University of Michigan enrollment this year of 31,274—about 27,000 on the Ann Arbor campus—90 per cent come from the top one third of their high school graduating classes. Students are also carefully screened by the U-M admissions office and only those who offic-

Murder Trial Unlikely Here

Ray W. Thorburn, convicted kidnaper of an Indianapolis man whose body was found about a year ago on the Garden Peninsula, will probably never be brought back to Delta County to stand trial for murder.

Nicholas P. Chapekis, county prosecuting attorney, said Thorburn probably never will be released from prison.

Thorburn, 43, of Chicago, was sentenced in U. S. District Court in Chicago on June 10 to life in prison with no recommendation for parole. A first degree murder warrant on Thorburn issued by Chapekis last year, however, is "still alive."

Chapekis said he has received several inquiries recently over the final disposition of the case. Mrs. William Loomis, widow of the murdered man, had asked that Delta County seek trial on Thorburn in erroneous belief that Michigan had the death penalty. Maximum sentence in Michigan would be life, Chapekis said, and generally criminals sentenced to life in prison in Michigan are eligible for parole after 15 years.

A communication from Carl F. Zarter, administrative assistant at the U. S. Penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kan., where Thorburn is currently serving his sentence said his "present minimum release date is life."

Chapekis said however, that evidence collected in Delta County is still being held at the request of U. S. attorneys.

Congress Quits, Task Unfinished

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The last congressional stragglers were packing their bags today for the journey homeward. But despite post-adjourning congratulations, the lawmakers were leaving some unfinished business to greet them when they return in January from 11 weeks of fence-mending.

Before the 89th Congress wound up its first session early Saturday, President Johnson joined in the praise for what was generally regarded as an historic record of legislation. He added a note, however, that he expected the "unfinished work" to be the first task next year.

And no one doubted that Johnson would be able to think up some new legislative proposals while completing his recuperation at his Texas ranch from his Oct. 8 gall bladder operation.

Heading the list of programs on which action is still awaiting action in the Senate and in the House, where a committee also wants to boost the present $1.25 an hour minimum.

The President's proposal for a teacher corps to work in poverty areas also was expected to be the subject of a new White House budget request. Like the rent plan, it too fell by the wayside in the last days of the session.

Other portions of Johnson's program failed to get through Congress. Two major proposals, both sought by labor, were sure to be candidates for consideration next year. The bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act section allowing states to legislate against union membership as a condition of employment will be still awaiting Senate action in January. Although the leadership gave up the "right to work" repeal issue in the face of a filibuster during the session, its status as a pending bill remains unchanged.

The President and labor are also expected to ask for action on the proposal to bring more workers under the federal minimum wage. This bill is still awaiting action in the Senate and in the House, where a committee also wants to boost the present $1.25 an hour minimum.

Noah Webster was born Oct. 16, 1758.

'College Night' Set Thursday

Escanaba Area High School will hold its seventh annual "College Night" program Thursday, Fritz Cerasoli, guidance counselor, said today.

The program is designed to provide high school juniors and seniors from all area high schools with an opportunity to discuss college educational programs with representatives of midwestern schools.

Cerasoli said 25 colleges and universities will send representatives to the high school for the program. He said parents have been encouraged to attend with their children.

College representatives will be assigned to various rooms in the high school, Cerasoli said. The program will begin at 7:30 p. m., and will be divided into three 30-minute sessions, allowing students to meet with three different college representatives.

Cerasoli said about 400 juniors and seniors from Escanaba Area High School have signed up for the program. He said that juniors and seniors from all high schools in the area have been invited attend.

In troy weight, 24 grains equal one pennyweight.

Home Extension Holds Christmas Workshop

The annual Menominee County Home Extension Christmas Workshop was held in the Bank of Stephenson, Thursday afternoon and about 400 visitors attended. Many visitors, including men, came from points in Wisconsin and Escanaba and Gladstone.

Members of the County Council: Mrs. Edward Beauchamp, Mrs. Claude Corrigan and Mrs. Harold Peterson, were kept busy at the registration table, above which hung a Home Extension emblem in gold and blue made by the present Council chairman, Mrs. Wayne Hooker of the Wilson 47 Home Study Club.

There are nineteen clubs in the county and eighteen entered displays. Outstanding was the creel work and articles made by senior citizens, inexpensive but attractive and useful.

The Wilson Home Study Group served refreshments throughout the display hours from 2 to 8 p. m.

Two Convicted In Detroit Union Hall Shooting

DETROIT (UPI) — Two men were convicted and a third acquitted of manslaughter charges Monday in the shooting of a man in a union hall during an argument over jobs.

Convicted were J.D. Landrum, 42, and R.L. Miller, 50. Michael Wilson, 41, was acquitted. All were from Detroit.

Witnesses stated the death of Samuel Little took place July 24, 1964, when Little led a group of workers to Laborers' Local 334 Hall and confronted Landrum, charging he was hiring relatives rather than union members at the Great Lakes Steel Corp. blast furnaces on Zug Island.

Police said the group confronted Landrum in a second floor office and the argument quickly developed into a shooting.

The defense claimed self-defense.

Trotter Heads Toastmasters

Bay de Noc Toastmasters Club Monday evening at Marco's Restaurant installed officers for the coming year.

Installation ceremonies were directed by Arthur Brien, the district parliamentarian and a member of the local club. Actual installation and explanation of duties was by Burt E. Parolini Jr., area governor and member of the Speakeasy Toastmasters Club of K. I. Sawyer AFB.

It was a ladies night program and all members and guests were invited to participate in the table topics for the evening under the supervision of Toastmaster Walter Peterson. The subject was "If" and resulted in many humorous and entertaining talks. Invocation was given by Tom McDermott and a welcome was extended by Club President William L. Miller.

The officers for the coming year are Sherwood C. Trotter, president; Norbert Valind, educational vice president; William L. Miller, administrative vice president; Tom McDermott, secretary-treasurer; and John Stoll, sergeant at arms.

The active membership of the Bay de Noc Toastmasters Club is 22 and they are most anxious to increase this amount to 30. New members must be 18 years of age, with a desire to help themselves along the path of public speaking by active participation in club programs.

Camera Club To Start Meetings

The Delta County Camera Club will hold the first meeting of its 1965-66 season on Thursday, Oct. 28 at the Carnegie Public Library. There will be a short business meeting at 7:30 p. m., to be followed by a travelogue "Trailing Around Lake Superior," by Lincoln Tenby. There will be a social at the close of the meeting. All camera enthusiasts are invited to attend and members may bring guests.

One Party Rule

Former Governor Soapy Williams, addressing Upper Peninsula Democrats in a recent rally in Escanaba, told of the role of the political party today in Africa's emerging states. The Africans use only one political party at this time as a means of developing unity in their new nations, an enormous problem because of the lack of literacy and education and the use of so many languages.

Williams cited that this country was a one party nation for quite a while; that George Washington had no opposition for election as President. He did not push the point to a suggestion that things would be better for the nation if the Republicans folded up and let the Democrats run the country, as they are pretty much doing today, but there was the inference that multiple parties are not imperative.

Our Founding Fathers didn't envision our present system of party politics, but it evolved quite naturally and very successfully and has become the basic structure of our politics. The Republicans enjoyed a long period of power after the Civil War and they have been in a long decline since the Franklin Roosevelt era, except for the two terms of President Eisenhower, and he owed more to his war hero respect than to political partisanship.

Americans worry some when one or the other of their political parties becomes dominant over a long period of time. What the worrying is about depends upon who does the worrying. Right now the Republicans are worrying about how long it will be before they can chop down the huge Democratic edge in Congress. The Democrats are worrying (a little) about staying in power. Some people in the middle ground are worrying (a little) about the strength of our political system with the opposition in an anemic state.

The Democrats' stand is the more popular today and they are the biggest party. They favor federal solutions to public problems. The Republicans favor individual opportunity and sound money. There are all sorts of shades of these basic positions and they are used by the artists of both parties in the political campaigns.

The Republican effort to pull back into a stronger position shows the need for reconciling dissident groups within the party. The Democrats have been able to do this to a rather surprising degree, but splintering of the big Democratic majority in Congress may be as much of a hope for opposition view as a resurgence of Republican strength.

The view of the conservative, anti-union, racist Democratic South is a polar extremity from the leftist Democratic position of the industrial North. Yet they manage a marriage of convenience. The Republicans in their national convention in 1964 found their conservatives in power and they tossed out the liberal elements of the party. In the campaign that followed the liberal elements withheld their support of conservative candidates and the result was catastrophic. Now the Republicans are trying to put the pieces together.

It won't be easy. Robert J. Donovan writes in his "The Future of the Republican Party" that the Democrats will occupy the White House through 1988, with another term of Lyndon Johnson, followed by two for Hubert Humphrey and then two for one of the Kennedys. Republican Tom Dewey says it was a "very clumsy Republican" who pinned the "welfare state" tag on the Democrats because anyone who thinks that attacks on security and welfare appeal to Americans today "is living in the Middle Ages."

America needs a strong conservative element in Congress to balance off the prevailing liberalism and bring legislation tried by the fire of contrasting opinions. Whether there will be such a voice depends upon public reaction to the basic tenets of the parties, the Democrats' managed economy and the Republicans' market economy. Meanwhile, even though the Republican voice is not strong, it is influential, reminding the electorate of alternate choices.

Relic From 1844 Is Treasure In Cause

Baraga Church Found At Assinins

By JAMES TRETHERWEY
Of The Russell Newspapers

In 1844, a year after he left LaPointe, Wis., to establish a mission in the L'Anse area, Frederic Baraga erected a small frame church where he could hold services for the Chippewa Indians he was teaching and converting to Catholicism.

The remains of part of that church have now been "discovered" by a newcomer to the Upper Peninsula, a retired priest who is working at his own request for the cause of canonization of Baraga, venerable "Apostle of the Chippewas."

The Rev. Joseph Godina, who was ordained in the same cathedral in Ljubljana (Laibach), in the Slovenian province of Carniola, Yugoslavia, where Baraga became a priest in 1823, learned quite by accident of the existence of an Indian home constructed partly from the old church used by Baraga before he became the first bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette Nov. 1, 1853.

Was A Warehouse

The church was an old warehouse purchased from the American Fur Co. for $40 by Father Baraga and moved across the ice of Keweenaw Bay.

On a visit to the bay area, Father Godina stopped to see William Jondreau, president (or chief) of the tribal council which supervises affairs of the 800 Indians living on the Assinins reservation overlooking the bay. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jondreau lamented the razing of their Holy Name Church (which had replaced the one built by Baraga) on the grounds of the nearby Capuchin Friary, but they told Father Godina, "We still have Baraga in our hearts — they cannot take that from us."

Then Mrs. Jondreau (nee Mary Cardinal) revealed that she had been born in the frame church which Baraga built in 1844 and how it had been given to her grandfather, William Cardinal, for his services as a runner between L'Anse and Sault Ste. Marie, then the see for the Upper Michigan diocese, after the stone church was erected in 1873. The gift to Cardinal was made by Father Gerhardt Terhorst, who served the area then known as L'Anse from 1861 until his death in 1901 and who gave Assinins its name in honor of a Chippewa chief who had been converted to Catholicism by Baraga.

Veteran Of War

Father Godina, a one-time printer and newspaperman, a veteran of World War I and a fugitive from the Nazi Gestapo in World War II, was quick to realize the value of such a "find" — mentally he envisioned a possible shrine if efforts of the Bishop Baraga Association to have Baraga named a saint are someday successful. Questioning brought from Mrs. Jondreau the statement that Indians living on the reservation generally are aware of the history of the house, but that "No one ever asked us about it, so we didn't say anything about it."

They showed Father Godina where the house — which has been standing idle for about 15 years — was located, about a quarter-mile from a statue on the friary grounds where Baraga's church stood.

"This was Father Baraga's first church," Mrs. Jondreau told Father Godina in a second visit to the spot. "My grandfather never allowed us to have parties in our home because he said it had been the house of God."

Came In 1830

Her grandfather, an orphan from the Sault whose swift feet carried messages across the Upper Peninsula between that city and the L'Anse area and who later became a captain on the Great Lakes, died about 40 years ago.

Father Baraga, who came to America on the last day of 1830, did much to better the lot of the Indian while sharing his poverty, misery, hardships and trials. He denounced and worked against white traders who used cheap whiskey to gain favors from the Indians. Baraga's stand against the injustices forced on the Indians by the traders and Indian agents actually caused him to be removed from the Grand Rapids area of Lower Michigan and sent to the island village of LaPointe, in Lake Superior off northern Wisconsin, in July, 1835.

He finally came to the Upper Peninsula in the spring of 1843 after three years of urging by Pierre Crebassa, manager of the trading post at L'Anse. That was almost 200 years after a Jesuit missionary, Father Rene Menard, had visited the L'Anse area in 1660-61.

Visita L'Anse

The Rev. Casimir J. Adasiewicz, present pastor of L'Anse, who has written a brief history about religion in the area, described how Father Baraga went to L'Anse to see and hear the Indians talk, to learn how well they would receive his teachings.

THE FRAME PORTION of this old Indian home still standing on the Assinins reservation was part of the church where Father Frederic Baraga — later the first bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette — erected in 1844. It was purchased by Baraga from the American Fur Co. for $40 and moved across Keweenaw Bay ice. The building has been empty for 15 years.

"When he arrived, the Indians were in a drunken stupor," Father Adasiewicz wrote. "The 'firewater' of the white man had reduced the redman to a sad state. All his furs were traded for the cheap whiskey brought to the Indian country in barrels and distributed only after securing many furs. The barter was unfair, but the illiterate Indians did most anything to obtain the white man's drink."

"Father Baraga waited until the Indians had drunk the last of the whiskey before he attempted to talk with them. After about three days they sobered up and the missionary told them of his religion and how the other Indians of his missions had willingly embraced the religion founded by Christ."

Missionary Stays

"The subject was discussed among themselves and after much deliberation it was agreed that if the missionary stayed with them permanently they would listen to him, otherwise his labors would be in vain. This promise was all Father Baraga needed. He agreed to come to them as soon as another priest was stationed at LaPointe."

After 20 days of preaching, saying Mass and teaching, during which he baptized about 50 persons, Father Baraga went back to LaPointe, returning to L'Anse in the fall of the same year. Most of the Indians agreed to move across the bay, to an area north of what is now the village of Baraga, and in return Father Baraga had a small house built for each family and also gave each a plot of land to cultivate.

Baraga's amazing facility for languages served him well and while at the mission he not only taught the Indians to read and write, but wrote a prayer-book, dictionary and grammar in their own (Chippewa) language. He had done the same for the Ottawa Indians while at a mission at what is now Harbor Springs in Lower Michigan.

First Nuns Arrive

Father Terhorst, the second successor to Baraga at Assinins, was imbued with the spirit of the mission's founder and was instrumental in bringing the first nuns — the Sisters of St. Joseph — to the Upper Peninsula. Their successors, now teaching in many U.P. schools, next year will celebrate the 100th anniversary of their coming to this region in 1866. The bodies of some of the nuns who taught and cared for children in the mission in those early days are buried in the same Assinins cemetery where many of the Indians baptized by Baraga now lie.

While not a missionary in the sense that Father Baraga and Terhorst were, Father Godina reflects much of their zeal in the avocation he has chosen. And that is to do his part in supporting the canonical investigation now being made in to the life and labors of Baraga to promote his beatification.

Father Godina fled from Yugoslavia in 1942, barely escaping arrest by the Gestapo, and later was active in the liberation of Slovenians from Nazi and Communist rule. He came to the United States in 1948 and since then has been serving as a priest in the Diocese of Cleveland. Becoming interested in the Bishop Baraga cause a few years ago, he initiated pilgrimages and tours to this area. After his return-ment for health reasons, he petitioned the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, seventh successor to Bishop Baraga, to come to Marquette and work with the Bishop Baraga Association.

Baraga Cause

The Diocese of Marquette, through that association, has been working on the Baraga cause for many years. Last year Bishop Noa appointed a tribunal to start the official process which, it is hoped, will lead to canonization of Baraga for beatification. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmund C. Szoka, Marquette, is postulator (the official who prosecutes such causes). The tribunal must examine all documentary evidence and approve the cause before it can be sent to the Congregation of Rites in Rome.

Father Godina, who came to Marquette about a month ago, resides in the Holy Family Home, and is at work in the Baraga Association's office in the basement of that former orphanage, helping gain support from Slovenians in the program designed to prove the holiness and heroic virtues of Baraga so necessary to gain recognition by the Catholic Church before beatification and canonization can be granted the "Apostle of the Chippewas."

Ann Landers

Rattlesnake Tail Had 13 Rattles

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old boy who needs your help. Yesterday my mom and dad got to talking about why they can't sell our house. Finally, my father said, "I know the reason. Ever since Robert got that rattlesnake tail with 13 rattles things have gone from bad to worse around here. It has brought us bad luck."

Then he went to my room and threw out my rattlesnake tail.

Mom and Dad have always been superstitious about the craziest things but it didn't interfere with me or my life until now. I don't care if they knock on wood all day long or drive backwards for 10 miles so a black cat won't cross their path, but throwing out the best thing in my whole collection is just too much. How can I help them stop being superstitious? — ROBBER ROBERT

Dear Robbed: People who are hung on superstitions do not respond to logic. They are slaves to practices they believe will protect them against bad luck.

You and I know that throwing out your prized rattler tail won't help your parents sell their house. What they ought to do is put the house in the hands of a first class real estate agent and keep their fingers crossed — oops, I mean hope for the best.

Dear Ann Landers: Late

I notice a lot of widows have been writing in and asking where all the eligible men are hiding. I speak from experience when I say some of those "eligible men" should be left in hiding.

My husband died in 1955 and I got to feeling sorry for myself. I must have been crazy, Ann. I owned my own home, drove a new car, had a very nice income and money in the bank. I took lovely trips and did as I pleased.

Then Fancy Dan (five years my junior) came along. He sent me roses, telephoned me three times a day and made me feel like sweet sixteen. I married him six months later and here's the way it is now:

He owes me $10,000 which he lost on a phony oil deal. The housekeeper I had for 15 years quit because he criticized her ironing. A son he forgot to tell me about turned up and has been living in my home for three months, waiting to be drafted. I sit at the dinner table while the two of them talk past me like I was a wax dummy or something. If you print my letter don't use the name of the city. Just sign it—HAD IT GOOD AND DIDN'T KNOW IT.

Dear Didn't Know It: You made a poor selection, Lady, and that can happen the first time around the track, too. Some widows find the happiness in a second marriage that they didn't find in the first. Like I said—it's all a matter of selection.

Dear Ann Landers: When I went with Fred he cracked his knuckles quite a lot but it did not bother me except when he did it in the movies or in church. He was always very nice about stopping when I asked him to.

Now that we are married I find that Fred can also crack his toes and it drives me crazy, especially at night. He also cracks his nose and his jaws. I have tried to crack mine but it doesn't work. I can't crack anything. This is a funny thing for a bride to be writing about, but honestly, Ann, I wish I could do something he can't do. Any suggestions? — NO TALENT THELMA

Dear Thelma: Yes. Have a baby. It will also give you something useful to do with your time and energy. A married woman who can't think of anything more important to complain about needs a big project.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents (if you don't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Big Ants Chew Downed Pilot

SAIGON (UPI) — "The only real discomfort was the ants. The black ants up there are about three-quarters of an inch long and all I could do was grin and let them chew on me."

It was either endure the ants, said Air Force Capt. Melvin C. Elliott of Glendale, Ariz., or be captured by the Viet Cong.

The 36-year-old pilot spent a day and a half hiding in the jungles near Plei Me after his A1E skyraider plane was shot down late last week while supporting the besieged U.S. special forces outpost 215 miles northeast of Saigon.

Elliott finally was rescued Saturday by an Air Force helicopter crew. He told reporters of his 36-hour ordeal without food or water.

Aside from cuts and scratches from hiking through bramble thickets and elephant grass, Elliott said doctors told him "it appears I'm getting a strep infection."

His rescuers were Capt. Dale L. Potter, 31, of Joseph, Ore., Capt. David G. Henry, 28, of Philadelphia, T. Sgt. Richard A. Connon, 31, of Buckton, Mo., and S. Sgt. Leon Fullwood, 27, of Southport, N.C.

Disease May Be Erased By 1972

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Surgeon General William H. Stewart, predicting that syphilis will be wiped out in the United States by 1972, has called on other nations to curb a resurgence of the disease.

In a speech before the Pan American Health Organization, Stewart said the United States was moving swiftly to prevent the rebirth of the venereal infection as a major disease.

The Doctor Says:

Hodgkin's And Leukemia

by Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—What is the difference between Hodgkin's disease, myelogenous leukemia and lymphatic leukemia? Do any of these ever change into one of the others? Is leukemia caused by a virus?

A—In myelogenous leukemia the predominant white cells in the blood are myelocytes (literally marrow cells) and in lymphatic leukemia the predominant cells are lymphocytes which are smaller and clearer when stained and seen under a microscope. In lymphatic leukemia painless enlargement of the lymph nodes in the neck, armpits and groins is an early finding, whereas in myelogenous leukemia weakness and anemia are the first signs of disease. The skin and digestive tract are more likely to be involved in lymphatic leukemia.

All evidence points to a virus being the cause but there is no conclusive proof of this as yet. In Hodgkin's disease, the enlarged lymph nodes are often tender to touch, especially when the enlargement has been rapid.

Although treatment with X rays and some of the newer drugs will prolong the victim's life there is as yet no cure for these malignant diseases.

Q—My mother has been getting migraine headaches for about a year. Lately she has had to have shots once or twice a week for them. Could this cause drug addiction?

A—If morphine, or any other opium derivative, is used twice a week your mother would become addicted in time. There are other drugs that are injected for migraine however, that are not habit-forming.

Q—Is migraine the same as a nervous or sick headache? Is migraine ever called sensory epilepsy? How does migraine affect a person's intelligence?

A—Sick headache refers to migraine because the attacks are usually associated with vomiting. A nervous headache is a tension headache and is less severe. Sensory epilepsy is not migraine but a form of epilepsy associated with hallucinations (sensations arising within the brain rather than from an outside stimulus) of vision, taste or smell.

Migraine neither improves nor impairs a person's intelligence. Many victims of this disease have above average intelligence.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

POLICE CHIEF HAROLD FINMAN of Escanaba checks two of the Vietnamese gift dolls that are the cause of concern expressed by military authorities. The dolls are to be turned over to demolition experts at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base. (Police Dept. Photo)

Hello (Vietnamese) Dolly!

Air Force Bomb Experts To Probe Gifts Of Dolls

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Two of several score Vietnamese dolls — pretty little things in silken kimonos that have been received in this country as gifts — have been located in Escanaba and are to be tested to determine if they contain explosives.

"They will be turned over to the U. S. Air Force at K. I. Sawyer base for testing," said Chief Harold Finman of the Escanaba police department.

Right now they and other dolls like them are the object of concern across the country, because there is the possibility the silken-covered bodies of the dolls may hide Viet Cong explosives.

The dolls brought to the Escanaba police station the other day by James Doran of 1206 N. 21st St., were received by his daughter, Mrs. Robert Girstner, the former Judy Doran.

'Grown-Up' Dolls

Staff Sgt. Girstner, now with the U. S. Army fighting the Viet Cong in Vietnam, sent the dolls to his wife as a gift. The Girstners have two young sons, Robert and Ronald.

Doran heard about the dolls and the possibility of their being dangerous and decided the best move was to turn them over to authorities. "They are more ornaments than dolls," he said. "They were sent by Sgt. Girstner to his wife — not to the children."

In Detroit more than a dozen such dolls sent home by the U. S. soldiers in Vietnam, were destroyed by police bomb squads Saturday and Sunday to quell fears they might have been booby-trapped by the Viet Cong.

All of them turned out to be duds. The wives and relatives of several servicemen asked police to take the dolls after the Army issued a warning to wives of First Cavalry soldiers.

Many Checked

Police took the dolls to a remote section of Belle Isle — an island in the Detroit River — and blew them up with dynamite. From the sound of the explosion, authorities declared the dolls had not contained charges.

In Milwaukee the police had calls from 35 persons who had received the dolls from servicemen in Viet Nam.

The dolls were called for by the officers and turned over to a demolition squad from Fort Sheridan, where they were placed in an ammunition bunker for examination. The bunker is made of brick with a steel door.

At the police station in Escanaba Sgt. Richard Frederick and the police chief handled the dolls carefully, not jarring them in their boxes or moving the heads, arms or legs.

None Exploded

The dolls are made of plastic, about 12 inches tall, mounted on a wooden base and are clothed in silk kimonos. The concern about the dolls began with unconfirmed reports from Army wives that some of the dolls exploded in Viet Nam, injuring servicemen.

The Army has reported that on Saturday it checked hundreds of dolls in many places in the United States, but had found none containing explosives.

Certainly the motives that inspired Sgt. Girstner and other servicemen to send the dolls to relatives and friends in the U. S. were inspired by sympathy for the plight of the Vietnamese people.

Sgt. Girstner, a veteran of 13 years in the Army, had volunteered for service in Viet Nam. In a recent letter to his wife he commented: "I feel we can't do enough over here." He is hopeful of coming home next July.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued a traffic court summons to Gerry Lee Pirlot, 1303 N. 1st Ave., defective lights.

Fire of unknown origin caused slight damage to the kitchen in the Kenneth Thorbjornsen home at 219 Stephenson Ave., at 1:35 p. m., Monday, it is reported by Escanaba firemen.

A Halloween dance sponsored by the Student Government will be held Saturday, Oct. 31, at Bay de Noc Community College from 8 to 1:30 p. m. Music will be furnished by Beat, Incorporated. Refreshments will be available. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

Beatles Fans Storm Palace

LONDON (UPI) — Beatles fans stormed the gates of Buckingham Palace today in a hysterical effort to see Queen Elizabeth honor their idols. It was the first time within memory that a mob has tried to invade the home of the royal family.

Thousands of screaming teenagers and younger children struggled with police and many climbed the great iron railings around the Queen's home before they were pulled down.

Girls Sob And Faint

One boy got into the palace grounds before police grabbed him. A 14-year-old girl, wearing a top hat and a white shirt with Beatle slogans on it, reached the top of the 15-foot-high gates and defied the attempts of police to coax her down. A police inspector finally climbed up and got her.

The occasion was the queen's award of the Order of the British Empire (OBE) to the mop-topped singers.

At one point during the investiture Beatle Ringo Star danced a jig on the ornate state ballroom of the palace.

After the ceremony was over Paul McCartney said of the queen.

"She was like a mum to us."

Outside the palace girls fainted and were carried away. Others wandered about sobbing. Still others chanted, "Long live the queen, long live the Beatles." Outbreaks of screaming came for no apparent reason.

Honor Sets Record

Older people, many American tourists among them, retreated to safety across the wide boulevard.

The scene was as unprecedented as the occasion. The Beatles are the first rock and roll group to be given such an honor made for their dollar-earning contribution to Britain's export drive.

"I've never seen anything like this before," said a veteran policeman on regular duty at the palace.

Present Awards At Meeting Of Cub Pack 411

Cub Scout Pack 411 met at the Jefferson School Monday night with Den 3 conducting the opening ceremony. Mrs. Robert Erickson is Den 3 mother.

Den 4, with Mrs. Russel Willard the den mother, presented a skit on "Smokey the Bear."

Awards were presented to 15 Cubs: James Jacobs, Stephen Winter, Wallace Anderson, Glenn Arit, Jay Cartwright, Brian Dupey, Gregory LaPorte, Brad Larson, Timmy LeClaire, Robert Meiers, Guy Rodmonich, Tom Sarnowski, Alan Schwalbach, Chris Sutter and Frederick Thorbjornsen.

The awards presentation was conducted by Cubmaster Russel Willard and the presentations were by Richard Winter, advancement chairman.

Games that each of the five dens had made were played by the Cubs and the closing was by Den 3, Mrs. James Jacobs, den mother. Other den mothers of Pack 411 are Mrs. Dorothy Sydmark and Mrs. Mary Thorbjornsen.

THIS IS THE WAY A LIGHT PLANE in which Dr. Sanford Sweany, chest disease specialist of Munster, Ind., and former member of the medical staff of Pinecrest Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Powers, looked after a crash Sunday noon in the Ralph area. A young companion from Munster was killed with Dr. Sweany, who had a hunting camp in the area. Officers had to use axes to open the fuselage and recover the bodies. (photos by Dickinson County Undersheriff W. P. Sparpana)

AN INDIANA CHEST specialist and an 18-year-old youth were killed at noon Sunday near Ralph in the crash of the light plane of the physician, Dr. Sanford Sweany, 48. He and his passenger, David Miller, 18, were both from Munster, Ind.

Road Design Can Cut Highway Death Toll

The following article is of special interest in the Escanaba Area because of the recent controversy over proposal of the State Highway Department to remove the elms on the Memory Lane section of U. S. 2-41 west of Escanaba because they are an accident hazard.

"Proper roadway design could prevent most single and many multiple car accidents," reports Dr. Donald F. Huelke, associate professor of anatomy at the University of Michigan Medical School. He is concluding a four-year research project during which he studied 171 traffic fatalities.

The other alternative in reducing traffic accidents would be to change driver attitude, update state laws or improve auto design, Dr. Huelke explained.

"The campaign for added auto safety features would decrease the severity of injuries, but would have much less effect in reducing fatalities than would improved roadways," he said.

"Of course the major cause of any accident can be blamed on the driver, but driver attitudes were harder to change than roadway design.

"Many medians separate oncoming lanes by less than 30 feet. A car traveling at 60 mph could cross that distance in less than half a second," Dr. Huelke said that on "slaughter alley" a strip on an Interstate route between Ypsilanti and Romulus, Mich., there have been 12 recent deaths in "innocent" cars (in which the driver was not at fault) alone.

Guard rails, another design feature, would reduce deaths if space is not available to broaden the median, explained Dr. Huelke. Los Angeles uses a chain-link fence on the free-ways — a fence now full of dents but able to keep swerving cars from the opposite lane. Highway signs and light poles that would bend on impact could also save lives, he noted.

"Removal of trees, deep ditches and other stationary roadside hazards would markedly reduce fatal accidents. One tree growing at road's edge was reported three times before causing a fatal accident in 1963. The tree is now finally marked for removal — because of Dutch elm disease."

Auto design is an alternative in correcting auto mishaps, but the interior of cars rather than exterior factors has been emphasized in traffic accident investigation.

Push button automatic transmission, dashboard and visor padding, and recessed knobs and handles were among the interior safety features suggested by Dr. Paul W. Gikas, a pathologist at the U-M.

Safety belts, a responsibility of the driver, also have been stressed.

"Altering human nature and driving habits is the most difficult alternative, however," says

Dr. Huelke. In 55 per cent of auto accidents the driver has been drinking, yet liquor by the glass is allowed in roadhouses and inns which are only accessible by car. Sweden has a mandatory jail sentence for drunk driving offenses, while drivers in most of the U.S. can refuse a blood-alcohol test.

"We need an implied consent law," says Dr. Huelke. "So that whenever one holds a Michigan driver's license he is consenting to body fluids analysis for alcohol. If he refuses, his license would be revoked."

"We also need a good vehicle inspection system. Too often we have vehicles in extremely poor condition on our roads."

"Many counties continue not to record the driving accidents of teenagers under 18. I've seen 16-year-old drivers laugh at police officers after an accident, knowing their license would not be revoked."

"Michigan should have the best driver training program of any state. We're the automobile capital of the world. Our state should therefore lead in the victory over traffic fatalities."

Hello (Vietnamese) Dolly!

Air Force Bomb Experts To Probe Gifts Of Dolls

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Two of several score Vietnamese dolls — pretty little things in silken kimonos that have been received in this country as gifts — have been located in Escanaba and are to be tested to determine if they contain explosives.

"They will be turned over to the U. S. Air Force at K. I. Sawyer base for testing," said Chief Harold Finman of the Escanaba police department.

Right now they and other dolls like them are the object of concern across the country, because there is the possibility the silken-covered bodies of the dolls may hide Viet Cong explosives.

The dolls brought to the Escanaba police station the other day by James Doran of 1206 N. 21st St., were received by his daughter, Mrs. Robert Girstner, the former Judy Doran.

'Grown-Up' Dolls
Staff Sgt. Girstner, now with the U. S. Army fighting the Viet Cong in Vietnam, sent the dolls to his wife as a gift. The Girstners have two young sons, Robert and Ronald.

Doran heard about the dolls and the possibility of their being dangerous and decided the best move was to turn them over to authorities. "They are more ornaments than dolls," he said. "They were sent by Sgt. Girstner to his wife — not to the children."

In Detroit more than a dozen such dolls sent home by the U. S. soldiers in Vietnam, were destroyed by police bomb squads Saturday and Sunday to quell fears they might have been booby-trapped by the Viet Cong.

All of them turned out to be duds. The wives and relatives of several servicemen asked police to take the dolls after the Army issued a warning to wives of First Cavalry soldiers.

Many Checked
Police took the dolls to a remote section of Belle Isle — an island in the Detroit River — and blew them up with dynamite. From the sound of the explosion, authorities declared the dolls had not contained charges.

In Milwaukee the police had calls from 35 persons who had received the dolls from servicemen in Viet Nam.

The dolls were called for by the officers and turned over to a demolition squad from Fort Sheridan, where they were placed in an ammunition bunker for examination. The bunker is made of brick with a steel door.

At the police station in Escanaba Sgt. Richard Frederick and the police chief handled the dolls carefully, not jarring them in their boxes or moving the heads, arms or legs.

None Exploded
The dolls are made of plastic, about 12 inches tall, mounted on a wooden base and are dressed in silk kimonos. The concern about the dolls began with unconfirmed reports from Army wives that some of the dolls exploded in Viet Nam, injuring servicemen.

The Army has reported that on Saturday it checked hundreds of dolls in many places in the United States, but had found none containing explosives.

Certainly the motives that inspired Sgt. Girstner and other servicemen to send the dolls to relatives and friends in the U. S. were inspired by sympathy for the plight of the Vietnamese people.

Sgt. Girstner, a veteran of 13 years in the Army, had volunteered for service in Viet Nam. In a recent letter to his wife he commented: "I feel we can't do enough over here." He is hopeful of coming home next July.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued a traffic court summons to Gerry Lee Pirlot, 1303 N. 1st Ave., defective lights.

Fire of unknown origin caused slight damage to the kitchen in the Kenneth Thorbjornsen home at 219 Stephenson Ave., at 1:35 p. m., Monday, it is reported by Escanaba firemen.

A Halloween dance sponsored by the Student Government will be held Saturday, Oct. 31, at Bay de Noc Community College from 8 to 1:30 p. m. Music will be furnished by Beat, Incorporated. Refreshments will be available. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

Beatles Fans Storm Palace

LONDON (UPI) — Beatles fans stormed the gates of Buckingham Palace today in a hysterical effort to see Queen Elizabeth honor their idols. It was the first time within memory that a mob had tried to invade the home of the royal family.

Thousands of screaming teenagers and younger children struggled with police and many climbed the great iron railings around the Queen's home before they were pulled down.

Girls Sob And Faint

One boy got into the palace grounds before police grabbed him. A 14-year-old girl, wearing a top hat and a white shirt with Beatle slogans on it, reached the top of the 15-foot-high gates and defied the attempts of police to coax her down. A police inspector finally climbed up and got her.

The occasion was the queen's award of the Order of the British Empire (OBE) to the mop-topped singers.

At one point during the investiture Beatle Ringo Star danced a jig on the ornate state ballroom of the palace.

After the ceremony was over Paul McCartney said of the queen.

"She was like a mum to us."

Outside the palace girls fainted and were carried away. Others wandered about sobbing. Still others chanted, "Long live the queen, long live the Beatles." Outbreaks of screaming came for no apparent reason.

Honor Sets Record

Older people, many American tourists among them, retreated to safety across the wide boulevard.

The scene was as unprecedented as the occasion. The Beatles are the first rock and roll group to be given such an honor made for their dollar-earning contribution to Britain's export drive.

"I've never seen anything like this before," said a veteran policeman on regular duty at the palace.

Present Awards At Meeting Of Cub Pack 411

Cub Scout Pack 411 met at the Jefferson School Monday night with Den 3 conducting the opening ceremony. Mrs. Robert Erickson is Den 3 mother.

Den 4, with Mrs. Russel Willard the den mother, presented a skit on "Smookey the Bear."

Awards were presented to 15 Cubs: James Jacobs, Stephen Winter, Wallace Anderson, Glenn Arlt, Jay Cartwright, Brian Dupey, Gregory LaPorte, Brad Larson, Timmy LeClaire, Robert Meiers, Guy Rodmonich, Tom Sarnowski, Alan Schwalbach, Chris Sutter and Frederick Thorbjornsen.

The awards presentation was conducted by Cubmaster Russel Willard and the presentations were by Richard Winter, advancement chairman.

Games that each of the five dens had made were played by the Cubs and the closing was by Den 3, Mrs. James Jacobs, den mother. Other den mothers of Pack 411 are Mrs. Dorothy Sydmark and Mrs. Mary Thorbjornsen.

THIS IS THE WAY A LIGHT PLANE in which Dr. Sanford Sweany, chest disease specialist of Munster, Ind., and former member of the medical staff of Pinecrest Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Powers, looked after a crash Sunday noon in the Ralph area. A young companion from Munster was killed with Dr. Sweany, who had a hunting camp in the area. Officers had to use axes to open the fuselage and recover the bodies. (photos by Dickinson County Undersheriff W. P. Sparpana)

AN INDIANA CHEST specialist and an 18-year-old youth were killed at noon Sunday near Ralph in the crash of the light plane of the physician, Dr. Sanford Sweany, 48. He and his passenger, David Miller, 18, were both from Munster, Ind.

Road Design Can Cut Highway Death Toll

The following article is of special interest in the Escanaba Area because of the recent controversy over proposal of the State Highway Department to remove the elms on the Memory Lane section of U. S. 2-41 west of Escanaba because they are an accident hazard.

"Proper roadway design could prevent most single and many multiple car accidents," reports Dr. Donald F. Huelke, associate professor of anatomy at the University of Michigan Medical School. He is concluding a four-year research project during which he studied 171 traffic fatalities.

The other alternative in reducing traffic accidents would be to change driver attitude, update state laws or improve auto design, Dr. Huelke explained.

"The campaign for added auto safety features would decrease the severity of injuries, but would have much less effect in reducing fatalities than would improved roadways," he said. "Of course the major cause of any accident can be blamed on the driver, but driver attitudes were harder to change than roadway design."

"Many medians separate oncoming lanes by less than 30 feet. A car traveling at 60 mph could cross that distance in less than half a second," Dr. Huelke said that on "slaughter alley" a strip on an Interstate route between Ypsilanti and Romulus, Mich., there have been 12 recent deaths in "innocent" cars (in which the driver was not at fault) alone.

Guard rails, another design feature, would reduce deaths if space is not available to broaden the median, explained Dr. Huelke. Los Angeles uses a chain-link fence on the freeway — a fence now full of dents but able to keep swerving cars from the opposite lane. Highway signs and light poles that would bend on impact could also save lives, he noted.

"Removal of trees, deep ditches and other stationary roadside hazards would markedly reduce fatal accidents. One tree growing at road's edge was reported three times before causing a fatal accident in 1963. The tree is now finally marked for removal — because of Dutch elm disease."

Auto design is an alternative in correcting auto mishaps, but the interior of cars rather than exterior factors has been emphasized in traffic accident investigation.

Push button automatic transmission, dashboard and visor padding, and recessed knobs and handles were among the interior safety features suggested by Dr. Paul W. Gikas, a pathologist at the U-M.

Safety belts, a responsibility of the driver, also have been stressed.

"Altering human nature and driving habits is the most difficult alternative, however," says

Dr. Huelke. In 55 per cent of auto accidents the driver has been drinking, yet liquor by the glass is allowed in roadhouses and inns which are only accessible by car. Sweden has a mandatory jail sentence for drunk driving offenses, while drivers in most of the U.S. can refuse a blood-alcohol test.

"We need an implied consent law," says Dr. Huelke, "so that whenever one holds a Michigan driver's license he is consenting to body fluids analysis for alcohol. If he refuses, his license would be revoked."

"We also need a good vehicle inspection system. Too often we have vehicles in extremely poor condition on our roads."

"Many counties continue not to record the driving accidents of teenagers under 18. I've seen 16-year-old drivers laugh at police officers after an accident, knowing their license would not be revoked."

"Michigan should have the best driver training program of any state. We're the automobile capital of the world. Our state should therefore lead in the victory over traffic fatalities."

Convert your home or business to economical Natural Gas heat today and pay nothing until July 1, 1966.

Convert now to Gas heat and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will buy your unused oil or coal—even remove your oil tank—all at no cost to you. What's more, whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we'll pay the bill. And all you pay us, between now and next July, is for the Gas you'll use to make this your most comfortable winter ever. Here's how this special limited-time offer works:

1. If you're now heating with oil, we'll buy what's left in your storage tank—at the price you paid for it. What's more, we'll remove your tank from your home or business and even haul it away if you want. All at no cost to you.
2. If you're now heating with coal, we'll take what coal you have on hand, off your hands. And pay you whatever it cost you originally.
3. Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we'll pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor, and it won't cost you a penny until next July. You can pay for the unit and its installation on July 1, 1966 with no carrying charge whatsoever. Or if you prefer you can make equal monthly payments including carrying charges on your Gas bill over a period of up to three years after July 1, 1966. Either way, there are no carrying charges between now and next July, and you need make no payments between now and next July. If you live in the areas we serve in the counties listed below, you're entitled to take advantage of this special limited-time offer. So act now. ### Organization Of Cub Pack 471 Is Set For Thursday

Cub Scout Pack 471 will hold its first meeting on Thursday.

Boys interested in becoming a Cub Scout, and who will be 8 years old before the first of the year, should attend this meeting with their parents. Application slips are being put into the second and third grade rooms of James T. Jones School, the Buckeye School and All Saints. During the meeting the Cub Scout program will be explained and new dens formed. For every 6 to 8 boys active in Cubbing there must be at least one adult who is willing to work with them. Pack 471 is also looking for a Webelos leader. This man will work with boys who are between 10½ and 11, teaching Scouts.

Floyd Swift is Cubmaster of 471. Charles Borden, assistant Cubmaster and Mrs. Werner Isaacson, secretary. Anyone who wants more information on this meeting can get in touch with them.

City Accepts Fiberglass Bid

The low bid of $665,20 submitted by Sterling Building Supplies of Gladstone for fiberglass to cover windows on the east roof of the disposal plant was accepted by the City Commission at their regular meeting Monday.

The Commission also authorized submission of an application for a master plan for the city. Formation of this plan is necessary before federal aid can be obtained for improvements in the city.

City manager H. J. Henriksen was authorized to advertise for bids to replace the west wall and roof deck for the one remaining building at the industrial park. Demolition of the undesirable buildings in the park is almost completed and the remaining building has been left without the west wall and roof.

G. H. Casey, Dallas, Tex., owner of Northern Cedarcraft Corp., appeared before the Commission to request that the building nearest their property adjoining the park be allowed to stand as it is currently being used by Northern Cedarcraft for storage. The Commission agreed to allow the building to stand temporarily.

A resolution thanking the family of Ralph J. Rams for funds left to the city in the Rams' Estate was passed. Funds were left to the city for use to benefit citizens.

Memorial Bell

MOUNT GRAN SASSO, Italy (UPI)—A John F. Kennedy memorial bell was dedicated Monday at the shrine of St. Gabriel on the slopes of 9,585-foot Mt. Gran Sasso, highest mountain in the Apennine range. Some 30,000 pilgrims attended the ceremonies. The four-ton bronze bell, a gift of Italian-Americans, was consecrated by Bishop Alberto Deane of Villa Maria, Argentina.

Garden Library Use Explained

Mrs. Harold Anderson, Gladstone librarian, and acting director of the Mid-Peninsula Library Federation (MPLF) spoke at the Garden PTA meeting Thursday evening about the new library station located in the Garden community building.

The station has been set up under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Cope and will be staffed by Garden area residents. The hours will be from 7 to 9 Monday evenings and Saturday afternoons from 2 to 4:30. A collection of children and adult books from MPLF is ready for loan and books which have been donated from various sources can also be borrowed.

In explaining the new library service, Mrs. Anderson reviewed the background of library development in Delta County, going back to the Tri-County Survey Study which was made about 8 years ago. At the present time, the Delta County Library Board contracts with MPLF for library service for Delta County areas with no public libraries in exchange for penal fine monies. The Garden area station and the Rapid River station, located in the St. Charles Parish Hall, are the only MPLF stations in Delta County.

Mrs. Anderson stated that MPLF has contracted with the Escanaba City Library to serve Ford River, Cornell and Wells Township, and with the Gladstone School and Public Library to serve Brampton, Baldwin and Escanaba Township. The Menominee County library is serving the Bark River area with bookmobile service by contract.

Briefly Told

State Police ticketed Robert Clouse, Rte. 1, Gladstone, for no registration plates, and Darrell Valiquette, Rte. 1, Gladstone, expired operator's license.

A car driven by Charles Santini, Ironwood, struck a deer on U.S. 2 about one mile north of U.S. 41, Spalding Township, Menominee County, Monday, State Police reported.

The Ruth Circle of the Memorial Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. E. A. Christie, 1111 Montana Ave., Wednesday at 2:15 p. m. Mrs. Rose Louis is assistant hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Sodermark visited last week in Gladstone with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Cannon and Mrs. Jack Johnson. While here she also visited Mrs. Ralph Nordquist, Ford River, who is recovering from recent surgery.

Gladstone Community 4-H Club will have its Halloween party Friday evening, Oct. 29, at 7 p. m., at the City Hall. All members must come in costume. Games will be played, prizes will be given for the best costume and lunch will be served. The decorating committee for the party will meet Thursday evening after chorus.

Two brothers who pleaded guilty when arraigned before Justice Ross Davis of Gladstone on separate charges paid fines and costs totaling $55.50 Monday. Harley G. Wunder, 20, Rte. 1, Bark River, was fined $20.70 and assessed costs of $4.90 for possession of fireworks and Milton Wunder, 26, was fined $25 plus $4.90 costs for driving while license revoked. A two-day jail sentence for Milton Wunder was suspended. Both men were arrested by State Police.

Agents Honored For 4-H Work

EAST LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan County Club Agents Association Monday night honored three 4-H Club agents for distinguished service.

Honored at the extension service dinner at Michigan State University were Charles Lang of Grand Rapids, John H. Worthington of Cassopolis and Mrs. Carolyn Carter Bay of Clare.

Lang has served in Kent County since 1959 and is also now working in Ottawa and Allegan counties. He has a B.S. degree from Ohio State University and an M.S. from MSU.

Worthington served in St. Clair County from 1952-54 and was in Oakland County until Oct. 1. He holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from MSU.

Mrs. Bay, one of the few women to graduate from MSU with a degree in animal husbandry, was recognized for her six years of 4-H work in Midland County.

GET U.S. AWARDS EAST LANSING (UPI)—Three Michigan men were presented distinguished service awards by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents at Michigan State University Monday night.

Recognized at the Cooperative Extension Service awards banquet were Carl J. Hanson of Bay City, John D. Johnson of Charlotte and Raymond E. Vasold of Saginaw.

Together the three, all of whom hold both B.S. and M.S. degrees from MSU, have more than 40 years of service with the MSU extension service.

Hanson, the Bay County agricultural agent, was recognized for his outstanding production and marketing programs for commercial farmers.

His first post was in Kent County, and he has served in the Bay County area since 1950.

A 10-year veteran of extension work in Eaton County, Johnson was cited for building effective relationships among the extension service, county government and professional groups and community leaders in his area. He has been there 10 years.

Johnson has taught vocational agriculture and served on a team that pioneered extension education in Colombia. He was a 4-H Club agent in Berrien County before being transferred to Charlotte.

Vasold, the Saginaw County agent, was recognized for a highly effective, well-rounded educational program assisting commercial agriculture. He first served as a 4-H Club agent in Genesee County and has been in Saginaw County for more than 10 years.

National presentations of the awards are scheduled for November in Philadelphia at the annual meeting of the national association.

Mary Alberti Bride Of Francis Kleiman

On Saturday, Oct. 9, in St. Stephen's Catholic Church in Milwaukee, Mary Alberti became the bride of Francis Kleiman. The Rev. Frs. Beyers and Sisek officiated at the 11 a.m. double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Alberti, Milwaukee, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kleiman, Rte. 1, Escanaba.

The bride chose a full length gown of peau-de-soie accented with applied pearls on the skirt and a chapel length train which was attached to the shoulders. Her chapel length veil was held by a crystal crown. A string of pearls was her only jewelry and she carried a spray of white butterfly orchids and yellow roses.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Gordon Weiss and bridesmaids were Regina Alberti, Nancy Mykovic, Angie Magistro, Patti Dovi and Frances Alberti. Junior bridesmaids were Kitty Kiegle and Laurie Kleiman.

The attendants were attired in identical full length gowns of gold satin and crepe, with chapel trains of gold brocade. Each wore a gold locket with a diamond center, a gift from the bride. They carried sprays of Fall colored flowers and wheat.

Joseph Kleiman served as bestman for his brother and groomsmen were Gordon Weiss, Nick Alberti, Lloyd and James Kleiman and Tom Alberti.

Mrs. Alberti chose for her daughter's wedding a pink brown chiffon dress with pink accessories, complimented by an orchid corsage. The bridesmaid and mother, Mrs. Mary Vetrano, wore a dark blue lace dress with blue accessories and a corsage of white mums. Mrs. Kleiman was attired in a dress of light blue crepe and lace, with an orchid corsage.

A dinner for the wedding party was served following the ceremony at the Burnham Bowl and a buffet supper was also held there from 6 to 8 p.m.

After a honeymoon trip to Phoenix, the newlyweds will make their home at 1808 S. 30th St., Milwaukee. The bride is a graduate of Pulaski High School and the Adele Ballou Beauty School. The bridegroom graduated from Bark River-Harris High School, served four years in the U.S. Navy, and is presently employed by the Harnischfeger Corp. of Milwaukee.

Hiawatha Post Dinner Will Be Wednesday

The annual membership dinner of the Hiawatha Post 2598 and Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held Wednesday, Oct. 27, at 6 p.m. at the V.F.W. hall.

Mrs. Edna Ambueau is in charge of the dinner and Mrs. Lillian Anderson is in charge of the dining room, each with their committees. All members and prospective members are welcome and dues can be paid at the dinner. Members can also bring their comfort items for the V. A. Hospital in Iron Mountain.

Dancing to the Mel-O-Notes will follow the dinner.

Church Events

Bark River Methodist

WHO SAID SOUR CREAM IS "SOUR"?

Versatile Dairy Product Hits New Popularity Peak

Don't let the plain Jane name of a meal. The new sour cream craze shows no sign of abating. There are addicts who bathe every-thing on their dinner plates with the irresistible white fluff.

See how a dollop of sour cream here, there and everywhere can make your everyday dishes as exciting to the taste as the exotic cuisine of world famous chefs.

Versatility is sour cream's trademark

1001 USES FROM DIPS TO DESSERTS

Sour cream's dipable consistency and tart, fresh flavor make it a natural for zesty dips.

Low Calorie Italian Dip

Yield: 2 cups
1 package (1.3 oz.) low calorie Italian salad dressing mix
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups dairy sour cream
In a mixing bowl gently blend ingredients into sour cream. Cover and chill to blend flavors.

Sour cream is a miracle worker; turning everyday favorites into exciting new taste treats. Try Quickie Stroganoff tonight.

Quickie Stroganoff

5-6 servings
Heavy covered skillet, 10-inch 2 tablespoons butter
1½ pounds beef sirloin, cut in 3x1½-inch strips
1 can (10½ oz.) cream of mushroom soup
1 package (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables, thawed
1 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature

In skillet melt butter; add beef and brown quickly, turning meat to brown on all sides. Add soup and vegetables; cover and simmer 10 minutes. Gently stir in sour cream. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve over hot buttered noodles or rice.

Soft Cream Jumbles

5-6 dozen
Buttered baking sheet
Preheated 350° oven
½ cup (1 stick) butter
1 cup sugar
2 large eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour

½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup dairy sour cream
In a mixing bowl cream together butter and sugar; add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and baking soda. Add to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Drop by rounded teaspoon 2 inches apart onto baking sheet. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture*. Bake approximately 9-12 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove immediately to wire rack to cool.

*NOTE: Cinnamon-Sugar—Mix 1 tablespoon of sugar with ¼ teaspoon cinnamon.

The tangy, fresh flavor of sour cream adds a delicious touch to these Soft Cream Jumbles.

TAKES DARE, TRIES IT FIRST TIME

Surprise! "Not sour at all," she says

Mrs. Joyce Birmingham has just joined the fraternity of fine cooks who sing the praises of sour cream. One bite opened a whole new world of flavor excitement for her and now she's collecting sour cream recipes from appetizers to desserts. Don't let the name, sour cream, keep you from discovering this delicious dairy product. Sour cream isn't "sour"—but don't take Mrs. Birmingham's word for it. Try some yourself. Start with one of the dishes below.

Why the Name Sour Cream?

Commercially cultured cream, as we know it, is a far cry from the product for which the name was given. Actually, sour cream as mentioned in famous European recipes dating back as far as the 17th century was truly that—cream that had soured.

In fact, today's sour cream was not possible until the advent of the cream separator in the late 1800's. So the first dairy-made sour cream made its debut in 1917. And what a transformation! It was an exciting new product with a name that no longer applied. But the name, nevertheless, "stuck."

Today's sour cream isn't "sour"; it is pasteurized, homogenized sweet cream, cultured, then under controlled conditions allowed to develop acidity to give character—that piquant zest. This delightful dairy product, made fresh daily, is delicate, satin-textured and always uniform. Get a carton of sour cream today.

Women Like Sour Cream's Low Calories

Weight-watchers prefer sour cream to many heavy salad dressings. Sour cream is low in calories compared with most other foods used in similar ways. For instance, the calories in 1 tablespoon of sour cream and 1 tablespoon of similarly used foods are:

Salad Dressings	Calories
Sour Cream	29
French	60
Mayonnaise	110
Mayonnaise type	65
Salad Oil	125
Thousand Island	75

Faculty Wives Attend Gala Party Monday

Escanaba Area faculty wives joined last night in a gala Halloween party at the Sherman Hotel. The gaily costumed ladies were greeted at the door by a grinning scarecrow lazing on cornstalks. The attractive party decor, featuring two-faced pumpkins on each table, was designed by Mrs. Erwin Wolff assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Klug.

Seven anonymous gentlemen awarded costume prizes to Mrs. David Laakso, most original; Mrs. Graham Dale McNamee, funniest, and Mrs. John Chown, prettiest.

Lunch was served (pumpkin pie of course) and a mixer devised by Mrs. Robert Meyerland and Mrs. Thomas Hughton, in which the newcomers were introduced, was played.

Chairmen for the affair were Mrs. T. Dale Flynn and Mrs. Ronald Fertile. Assisting were the mesdames: Don Allis, Stephen Baltic, Darrel Bengry, Manfred Cerasoli, Jean Cote, Louis Diedrich, John Edick, Dennis Foltman, Glenn Gamble, Edward Guindon, David Hale, Roger Herson, David Laakso, Joseph LeDuc, Sam Lind, Douglas McEachern, Donald McKee, Clarence Moore, John Slapp and Henry Wylie.

The group also decided to start a fund for needy children in the Escanaba Area and this will be administered by Miss Anita Kotila, R.N.

General chairmen for the year are Mrs. John Altobelli and Mrs. Roger Herson.

Hints From Heloise

Razor Blade, Soap For Buttonholes

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Have you ever suggested in your column to cut buttonholes with a razor blade, over a cake of soap?

Jean Jordan

Dear Jean: I've never suggested it because I had never heard of it, but it's a lulu of an idea!

There would be less danger of cutting too far, as the material wouldn't slip as readily on a bar of soap as it would on a hard object, and the bar would be large enough to make handling easier.

Thanks trillions! Heloise

Dear Heloise: I save empty three-course

TV dinner trays. I have one in my dressing table drawer, in the desk drawer, in the work shop, etc., to hold odds and ends. Prevents lots of clutter! Beverly Rome

Dear Heloise: I've been reading all those hints sent in about what to use between the pot and the lid to let the steam escape. Toothpicks fall into the food; clothespins have to be clean and new; hair clips get too hot to handle, etc.

I cut a strip of aluminum foil about four inches wide and eight inches long, twisting it (like a rope) and bending it in the middle so that half will go down into the pan, and the other half hanging down over the outside. The foil can be rinsed and used again and again. Annie

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise: Everybody writes in and tells you tips they use for dishes, housework, etc.

Well, Here's one my mother uses for dishes: ME! I!

Loving Daughter

Dear Heloise: Do your boys have an old pair of blue jeans that are still good but faded?

Don't throw them away. They are still wearable, and can be darkened so that they will look almost like new ones. Simply drop them in the washer with a pair of new blue jeans that you are shrinking before they are worn.

The dye will come out of the new jeans and cling to the faded ones. Result? Two pairs of good looking jeans. Nancy Poe

That's a peach of a hint. I'll try it with my daughter's faded jeans. Thanks, Nancy! Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When packing a suitcase, I put all of my clothes into plastic bags. Since practically everything we use these days comes wrapped in plastic bags, I always have plenty on hand. Several blouses may be folded and slipped into one of the smaller bags, such as sheets or curtains come in. Dresses and suits may be put into the larger ones.

The clothes will not wrinkle when packed this way, provided the weather is dry, and the clothes are not the least bit damp. I find this is much easier than using tissue paper. M. T.

Dear Heloise:

For a convenience in keeping letters or cards, use a three pound coffee can as a caddy to hold them. The can may be decorated.

A smaller one may be used to hold pens and pencils, and can be decorated to match the letter caddy. Bernice Setzer

Dear Heloise:

I just took a to-be-discarded woolen dress that zipped down the back (one of the light-weight, but lined ones), cut it off at the waist, removed the zipper, let out the darts, trimmed the waist with some braid and ended up with a nice, warm bed jacket. Bette King

Dear Heloise:

For those who still like to use a regular pen to write with, but are often annoyed by ink stains on the fingers, I suggest that they wet the tip of the head of a match, and apply it to the stain. The stain will disappear like magic. Bob Diedrich

I thought you must be joking, but, by golly, it works! Heloise

Fred Tryans Are Honored At Golden Wedding

A dinner for over 70 relatives and friends was held at the Chicken Shack Saturday, Oct. 9, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tryan on their golden wedding anniversary. The dinner was given by their children.

The dinner table, attractively decorated with golden mums and tapers, was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with golden roses.

Mrs. Tryan chose a two piece black dress for the dinner and she was presented with a corsage of gold tinted carnations.

Fred Tryan and the former Clare St. Antoine were married Oct. 12, 1915, in St. Anne's Church. They are the parents of 11 children and have 53 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

The children are: Robert Tryan and Mrs. James (Clara Ann) Johnson, Loves Park, Ill.; Mrs. Lee Roy (Margaret) King, New Oxford, Pa.; Mrs. Alvin (Betty) Williams, Rockford, Ill.; Mrs. James (Gladys) Bell, Freeport, Ill.; James, Lena, Ill.; Kenneth, Ontario, Calif.; and Louis, Fred and Mrs. Lowell Burklund of Escanaba. All the children except Kenneth attended the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Paulson Sr. are visiting the Harold Paulson family at Muskegon.

Mrs. Louis Farley is spending two weeks at Clarkston with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Grady Steele and family.

Mary Spaulding of Wayne spent several days recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Spaulding.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ansell of Milwaukee visited with the Lawrence Anderson and Dave Thill families recently.

Circle Meets

Mrs. Grover Spaulding was hostess to St. Anthony's Circle recently. Non members at the meeting were Mrs. Steve Psodna, Mrs. Ed Paulson Jr., and Mrs. Bernard Grenier. The annual Harvest Auction meeting of the circle will be held Nov. 10 at the John Cota home.

Hermansville

Firemen Meet

The Menominee County Volunteer Firemen met at the Hermansville Community Club on Wednesday, Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. There were 61 firemen present.

Elton Westman conducted the meeting and Dan Deacon of Faithorn was elected chairman for the next year. Each fire chief present gave a short report on fire calls, membership and new equipment purchased since the last meeting. Chief Richard Grenier of the Hermansville department showed a Fire-Stik, which the department recently purchased and explained its use. Personnel of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. at the meeting were: Harry Middleton, district manager of Escanaba; Jerry Green, operation manager of Escanaba; Vern Grondell, district foreman, Detroit; and Bob Snuurka, heating specialist, Mount Pleasant. They spoke of fire safety and methods of extinguishing gas fires, with a demonstration outdoors. Lunch was served by the Ladies auxiliary of the Fire Department.

Esky-Crusaders In First Clash

The curtain comes down on the Upper Peninsula high school football season this weekend with a history-making game at the Escanaba gridiron as the Eskymos meet the Holy Name Crusaders for the first time.

The two Escanaba schools have competed in the past in such sports as basketball, track, golf and baseball but have never met on the gridiron.

The stage for the first meeting was set with the formation of the new Great Northern Conference last year. With both schools gaining membership in the loop, this fall's football clash became a reality.

In years past, when the Escanaba Parochial school was St. Joe, the teams competed in football. That series ended in 1934 after 16 games had been played with Escanaba winning 12, losing one and tying three.

Elsewhere around the Upper Peninsula this weekend, Coach Ron Rubick's St. Ignace Saints will be seeking to join Ironwood and Crystal Falls in the select circle of undefeated, untied teams. St. Ignace plays host to downstate Onaway in a Friday night contest, carrying a 7-0 record into the game.

Champions of two conferences will clash in another Friday night game as Munising of the Great Lakes invades Stambaugh of the Menominee Range.

Coach Don Protenhauer's Gladstone Braves close on the road, meeting L'Anse of the Copper Country in a Saturday game.

Kingsford and Iron Mountain renew their bitter grid rivalry Saturday at the Mountaineer field while Stephenson travels to Norway. The M&M classic, one of the oldest prep football rivalries in the nation, will be resumed Saturday when Marinette invades Menominee.

Casper Heads For $100,000 Golf Earnings

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Billy Casper, who already has won four tournaments to match his previous season high, appears headed for $100,000 in official Professional Golfers' Association earnings for the first time in his career.

Casper, who added $20,000 to his winnings with a victory in the Sahara Invitational last weekend, boosted his official earnings to $96,772 for third place behind Jack Nicklaus ($138,852) and Tony Lema ($101,817).

Casper also vaulted into second place in over-all earnings with $129,930, which also includes money won in tournaments not sanctioned by the PGA. Nicklaus leads in over-all earnings with $150,347.

The rest of the top 10 official money winners are Doug Sanders ($72,182), Gary Player ($69,964), Bruce Devlin ($67,658), Dave Marr ($63,373), Gene Littler ($58,898), Arnold Palmer ($57,770) and Al Geiberger ($55,724).

Durocher Has Plan To Speed Up Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI)—Leo Durocher, a baseball firebrand since 1928, destroyed a four-year-old front office policy in his first public moments as new manager of the Chicago Cubs, and he promised today the new look would extend to the playing field next year.

Durocher needed only seconds after his appointment was announced Monday to declare himself "manager, not head coach" of the Cubs, wiping out the club practice of numerous coaches and no leader, which had existed since 1961.

Now, Durocher said, he and General Manager John Holland will spend the winter trying to trade or otherwise develop a Durocher team.

Speed Seeker
"I'm not looking for the long ball," he said. "I'm looking for speed. I'm not waiting for somebody to hit out of the park. I like to run. I like to hit to right field, or on the ground and move my man around."

"I believe I'm unorthodox. I don't want a safety first player. I want players to bear down and go for everything they can get. I want players who will run 90 feet."

"We've got the nucleus of a good ball club we can build around. We've got some pretty good ball players in (Billy) Williams, (Ron) Santo and (Ernie) Banks, and six or seven pretty good pitchers."

Durocher, 59, signed a three-year contract with the Cubs, at an undisclosed salary without any bonus arrangements on performance or attendance, and said the long term pact was Holland's idea.

"We wanted to keep him," Holland said. "We didn't want somebody taking him away after one year, so we wanted a three-year contract. We felt our biggest need was a good strong experienced successful man endowed with inspirational leadership. Leo fills the bill perfectly."

Some Trading
Durocher and Holland will consult on trades, and both indicated they would deal readily. However, Durocher warned that he expected the Cubs to get the best of any trade.

"I say now it'll be a one-sided deal," he said. "I'm going to get the best of it. Any club that gets what it wants from us is going to have to give us more than we want."

Durocher cleaned out the Cubs coaching staff almost completely in his first official move, retaining only Rube Walker from the 1965 staff. He also added two of his old coaches, Whitey Lockman and Fred Fitzsimmons, for next season.

Durocher's major league career began with the New York Yankees in 1928 and he played through the 1939 season, when he was player manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. From 1940 through 1954 he managed either Brooklyn or the New York Giants, winning National League pennants in 1941, 1951 and 1954. Three times he was named Manager of the Year.

As a player Durocher was on the All Star team in 1936 and 1938 and was on the world championship St. Louis Cardinals in 1934.

Lane Whipped By Ed Perkins

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Former junior welterweight champion Eddie Perkins, a decisive victory over Kenny Lane, Muskegon, a few hours behind him, was waiting today for word from champion Carlos Hernandez that he will give Perkins a shot at the title.

Perkins pounded out a 12-round decision over Lane at Municipal Auditorium. The crowd found the fight little to the liking and hurled jeers and boos while the fighters were throwing punches.

Perkins was the first Negro to oppose a white boxer in a Louisiana prizefight in 73 years, but even that brought little enthusiasm.

Referee Pete Giarusso scored draws in two rounds and one judge scored a single round a draw. Otherwise, Perkins got the nod.

Perkins, apparently in perfect condition, floored Lane for a four count in the first round and a three count in the third.

He had Lane in serious trouble in the seventh, eighth, 10th and 11th rounds, but could not manage a knockout.

Giarusso intervened to halt the only chance Perkins might have had for a KO. In the third round, Perkins was about to stumble over his own shoelaces while he had Lane on the ropes. The referee stopped the action to straighten out the shoelaces.

The Chicago fighter said he is ready to fight Hernandez as soon as possible.

"Tomorrow would be all right with me," he said. "I want that title back, right here."

Perkins said he wanted to fight Hernandez in New Orleans and the champion has indicated he will defend his title in the Crescent City if the price is right.

The current season will be remembered as the year of upsets, ties and one-point margins of victory in Upper Peninsula high school football ranks. We can't remember a year in which so many games were decided by a single point. In addition to seven tie games up to this week's final games, there have been 13 games decided by an extra point. Including three this past weekend.

Stambaugh edged Ishpeming in one of those squeakers with John Baumgartner kicking the conversion that provided a 13-12 victory. The final Stambaugh touchdown came on a wild play in which John Shenich took the snap from center, passed across the field to Steve Shenich who lateralled the ball to Terry Carmine who passed to Jim Dahl, the play covering 60 yards.

Power running Chris Alberti, 205 pound junior fullback at Kingsford, just about wrapped up the Great Northern Conference rushing and scoring championships as the Flivvers ripped Menominee, 26-6. Alberti scored three touchdowns and a pair of extra points, rambled 176 yards in 30 carries and played an outstanding defensive game. The victory assured Kingsford of at least a tie for the GNC championship.

Ironwood closed out its perfect season and captured the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference title with the 26-0 verdict over Ashland. Quarterback Don Koivisto clicked on nine of 18 passes for 173 yards, including touchdown tosses of 46 yards to Marty Murto and 40 yards to Guy Kangas.

Halfback Bob Phillips scored two touchdowns and gained 153 yards in 23 carries to lead the surprising Marquette Redmen to their 20-7 victory over Sault Ste. Marie, knocking the Blue Devils out of any chance for a share of the Great Lakes Conference championship. The victory was the third straight for Coach Jerry Pangrazzi's Marquette team that had dropped its first five starts of the season.

Another of those one-point decisions gave Houghton a 7-6 Copper Country Conference triumph over L'Anse with quarterback Jerry LaJeunesse passing to Tom Ala for the extra point that won the game. The L'Anse touchdown was scored by Harlan Fisher, whose brother, John, was an outstanding athlete in football, track and basketball at Escanaba High School a few years back. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fisher.

In downstate prep football action over the weekend Coach Jack Finn's Battle Creek Central team trimmed Lansing Sexton, 28-0. It was the fifth straight victory for the No. 2 ranked Class A team in the state.

Calumet, a team that lost seven straight games last year, closed out its season with a 32-7 decision over Ontonagon. It was the sixth victory against two defeats for Coach Wayne Sickler's Copper Kings. George Olkarinen scored two touchdowns for the winners.

Quarterback Barry Pierson had another outstanding day as Coach Ron Rubick's St. Ignace Saints ran their victory string to seven by blanking Rudyard, 19-0. Pierson connected on nine of 15 passes, including two for touchdowns, and gained 98 yards rushing. Halfback Randy Neelis snared two of the TD tosses.

Halfback Chuck Bennin exploded for five touchdowns on runs totaling 182 yards to lead Pickford to a 51-6 Eastern Conference victory over winless Cedarville. Bennin gained 192 yards in only seven carries and completed six of 11 passes for an additional 169 yards.

Barry Pierson

Barry Pierson Star Athlete At St. Ignace

ST. IGNACE — Barry Pierson, hailed as one of the finest quarterbacks in the Upper Peninsula, will play his final football game for the Saints Friday night against Onaway at St. Ignace.

Pierson is the chief reason for the success story of this Class C school during the last three years. St. Ignace is forced to compete in a conference with larger Class B schools because of its geographical position. However, last year Pierson led his team to the Straits-Huron championship and the Saints carry a 7-0 record this year into their final game.

Pierson has all but produced sheer magic with the pigskin and has put on fantastic displays of aerial prowess that have kept spectators on the edge of their seats all season. He not only is a deadly passer but keeps the opposition in a dilemma with his scrambling and broken field running. He plays both ways and from his defensive safety position averages twenty-two tackles per game — many of them at the line of scrimmage.

Passing, he had 68 completions in 105 attempts for a percentage of .647 and 880 yards with 10 TD's, and only 3 interceptions.

On the ground he has gained 490 yards in 59 attempts for an average of 8 yards per carry and 8 touchdowns running. He has returned 7 punts for 205 yards for a 29.3 yard average and two touchdowns. He has returned 4 kickoffs for 81 yards and a 20.3 yard average.

Last year Pierson gained All-U.P. and All-State honors when he completed 74 out of 149 pass attempts for 1,287 yards and seven touchdowns. He also rambled for 12 touchdowns and averaged 10 tackles per game on defense.

St. Ignace is coached by Ron Rubick former star athlete at Manistique High School and a three year letterman in football at Michigan State.

Spartans Take Over First Place In College Ranking

NEW YORK (UPI)—Michigan State, the surprise team of the Big 10 Conference, edged Nebraska out of the first place Tuesday in the three-way battle for the No. 1 ranking with Arkansas in the United Press International major college football ratings.

The Spartans, given only a slight chance to make the big 10's first division before the season began, have reeled off six consecutive victories including last Saturday's 14-10 verdict over previously unbeaten Purdue.

The 35 coaches on the UPI rating board awarded Michigan State 15 first-place votes and 318 points. Nebraska and Arkansas, both undefeated, received nine and 11 votes, respectively, but the second-place Cornhuskers nipped Arkansas in total points, 307 to 305.

The tussle among Michigan State, Nebraska No. 1 for three weeks) and Arkansas for first place is one of the closest in the 16-year history of the UPI ratings. All three squads were impressive last weekend, with Arkansas beating North Texas State, 55-20 and Nebraska ripping Colorado, 38-13.

Notre Dame jumped from seventh to fourth place after its rout of Southern California, Florida rose from eighth to fifth and Louisiana State skipped three places to sixth. Purdue dropped from fourth to seventh, and Missouri, which plays Nebraska Saturday, entered the top 10 in eighth position.

Southern California fell from a fourth place tie to ninth and UCLA beaten only by Michigan State, climbed into 16th for the first time this season.

The South dominated the second 10 led by 11th-ranked Alabama and unbeaten but twice-beaten Tennessee in 12th. Georgia Tech entered the ratings in 13th and Texas occupied 14th place.

Kentucky ranked No. 15 followed by unbeaten Utah State, Minnesota, and Stanford.

Princeton, also undefeated, tied Texas Tech for 19th.

Nebraska at Missouri is the featured contest among the top 10 this weekend. Michigan State is at home against Northwestern, Arkansas meets Texas A&M, winless in the Southwest Conference, and Notre Dame tackles Navy at South Bend, Ind.

Michigan State has been one of the most frequently rated teams in the UPI standings.

Since 1950, the Spartans have ranked in the final top 20 a total of 11 times and won the national championship in 1952.

They were second in 1951 and 1955 and third in 1957.

Five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation vote each week for the top 10 teams with points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th.

The United Press International major college football ratings with first-place votes and won-lost-tied records in parentheses:

Team	Pts.
1. Mich. State (15) 6-0	318
2. Nebraska (9) 6-0	307
3. Arkansas (11) 6-0	305
4. Notre Dame (4-1)	241
5. Florida (4-1)	132
6. Louisiana State (5-1)	123
7. Purdue (4-1-1)	117
8. Missouri (4-1-1)	66
9. Sou. Calif. (4-1-1)	43
10. U.C.L.A. (3-1-1)	39

Second 10—11. Alabama 38; 12. Tennessee 36; 13. Georgia Tech 28; 14. Texas 23; 15. Kentucky 21; 16. Utah State 16; 17. Minnesota 15; 18. Stanford 13; 19. Ohio State, Princeton and Texas Tech 9.

Other teams receiving votes: Washington State, Wyoming, Ohio State, Georgia, Syracuse.

Duffy Cautions Against Upset

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty cautioned his underdoged and top ranked Spartans today against a major upset Saturday by Northwestern.

"We have both feet on banana peels. One slip and we could be through," Daugherty said.

The Spartans have won six straight games, four in the Big Ten while vaulting to the nation's top football rating.

"A lot of hard work went into getting there and we realize it will take even more to stay there," Daugherty said.

Don Japiga, team co-captain and a key man in the tough Spartan defensive backfield, echoed Daugherty's words of caution.

"I hope all the guys can keep their feet on the ground and not get excited," he said.

Daugherty said his Spartans would "try to be realistic and play the same sound methodical way" as they have been playing.

"We know there can't be a letdown of any kind. There better not be," warned Daugherty.

"If we are going to be a great team we can't splutter around. We still haven't put a whole game together," Daugherty said, recalling how his Spartans had to come from behind against Purdue last week and Ohio State the week before.

The Spartans aren't taking

Northwestern lightly.

"It won't be a question of us just showing up. Any team in the Big Ten can knock you off. They all have talent. We've found that out," Daugherty said.

Star quarterback Steve Juday, nursing a bruised left shoulder following Saturday's 14-10 over Purdue, said "we know we're on the spot but I think we can come through. We want to be No. 1 at the end of the season."

Daugherty said his team was getting better.

"We've had great stride and have improved in our techniques," he said. "Nothing has described his team as one which plays with 'great intensity.' Daugherty shifted Monday and called his Spartans a team with "tremendous desire and hustle."

The only casualty of the Purdue game who probably will miss Saturday's homecoming game was defensive tackle Buddy Owens. Owens re-injured his left knee against the Boilermakers.

Crozier has been bothered with his stomach since he was playing sandlot hockey at 15. However, two months ago an attack of the ailment left him in great pain.

While the Wings are off until Thursday night when they host the Chicago Black Hawks at Olympia Stadium, the 23-year-old star goalie for the defending National Hockey League champs will undergo more gastro-intestinal tests at Ford Hospital.

Crozier has been bothered with his stomach since he was playing sandlot hockey at 15. However, two months ago an attack of the ailment left him in great pain.

While most players are nourishing a tough game with a locker room beer or malted milk, Crozier just drinks water. His diet is strict—no fats, fried foods, whole milk, etc.

He had another attack during the exhibition season. The ailment is described as serious and sometimes fatal. But Crozier takes his tests, sticks to his diet and plays hockey.

After bowing out of the All-Star game last week at Montreal because of "a slight touch of flu," he got bombed in the season's opener at Montreal, 8-1.

However, Crozier came back with a fine performance to shutout the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-0, last Sunday.

But shutout celebrations seldom are enjoyable while downing glasses of water.

Hicke will be confined to St. Clare's Hospital for about 10 days.

Frick Denies Strong Words

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Milwaukee to answer a state request that a state antitrust suit against the club and the National League be returned to circuit court, where the state started it. The Braves had it shifted to the U.S. District Court.

The Braves said the state was making a "bizarre effort" to "regulate the wholly interstate affairs of professional baseball" by starting an antitrust suit. The Braves contended the federal court should have such a suit.

Milwaukee County has started in U.S. District Court an antitrust suit against the Braves and Milwaukee aimed at keeping the team from moving unless the community gets another major league club.

Arguments on the state's motion to get its suit back into circuit court will be heard Nov. 9.

Jamison, who heads the agency which handles state investments, testified in a deposition taken by the Braves attorneys. He told them he visited Frick Sept. 22 in connection with the Club's move to Atlanta in 1966.

Jamison also said he had lunched with Frick with the idea of the state purchasing the Braves, but only if Atlanta would also get a franchise.

A Braves attorney asked Jamison if Frick, who is to retire this year, was referring to Milwaukee County Board Chairman Eugene Grobschmidt as the "alderman" Jamison said he wouldn't know by name which man Frick had meant. Grobschmidt, however, has been one of the Braves' most ardent critics.

The Braves Monday acted in Bowl President A. F. (Bud)

Dudley, contacted at his Philadelphia office, said the decision came from Stun Bates, chairman of the NCAA's executive committee. He said Bates, Washington State said the transfer would be official if Dudley met certain conditions.

Included in the conditions were that Dudley have on file in the NCAA's office by Nov. 8 the names of the Memphis committee members, plans to sell tickets and finance the game and by Nov. 18, certification that a Memphis bank has on deposit $50,000 to guarantee team expenses.

The seventh annual game will be played in the new $3.7 million Memphis Memorial Stadium Dec. 18.

Center of Town

The facility, which Sept. 18, and is located near the center of the city at the fairgrounds.

Arthur S. Bergstrom, assistant to NCAA Director Walter Byers, said the committee decided on Memphis because it wanted to see the game succeed and felt that if it didn't succeed in Memphis, it never would.

Bergstrom said the committee was particularly impressed with the stadium "which certainly ranks as one of the finest in the country."

He said after a month of deliberation over possible sites, "exhaustive research proved

Memphis Named As Site Of Liberty Bowl Contest

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Monday approved Memphis as the permanent site of the Liberty Bowl because the city "offered the greatest potential opportunity for success."

The Braves Monday acted in Bowl President A. F. (Bud)

that the city of Memphis offered the greatest potential opportunity for success."

Dudley was to fly to Memphis today for a press conference and official announcement of the transfer.

The bowl had been certified for Atlantic City's Convention Hall, site of last year's game.

Financial Trouble

The game has had financial trouble, primarily because of the weather, since the opener in 1959.

The weather factor reportedly caused Dudley to move the bowl to the in-door Convention Hall last year.

Earlier this month, Dudley had asked the Memphis Park Commission Board to reduce the usual ten per cent gross gate receipts rental fee to five per cent. The board refused the reduction, and Dudley agreed to the 10 per cent fee which is charged all colleges.

Dudley said it was far too early to narrow down the number of teams which might play in the bowl, but said despite Memphis State's losing its first three games of the season, the "Tigers" have an "excellent chance" to play in the bowl if they "continue to maintain a winning streak."

Memphis State lost to Mississippi, Southern Mississippi and Tulsa before springing one of the season's upsets by a 33-13 win over previously undefeated Mississippi State.
